Cruse opposes Warfield's plan

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff Writer

Von Dee Cruse, candidate for mayor of Granite City, said Friday it was "unfortunate" that opposing candidate Mac Warfield's proposal was not presented to the public until just before the election.

As noted in an editorial in Thursday's Press-Record, Warfield has unveiled a plan to sell $9 million in bonds to build a new school and $1 million in federal and state grants expected in the next two years, the city would have a total of $10 million.

Warfield's plan is to cut the $800,000 the city has been spending on sewer breaks to $400,000. The savings would be used to pay off the bonds and also to fix one-fourth of the city's sewers at a cost of $7.5 million.

"It is unfortunate that Mr. Warfield, who has been serving as an alderman and supervisor of streets for the past six years, has waited until now to present this plan," Cruse said. "Why hasn't this plan been presented over these past six years? Is it because the plan lacks feasibility and is screened and mirrored? Is this plan a simple bond issue plan which always costs money and means raising taxes?"

Cruse said he hoped everyone was living at the 25 percent of the city where the sewers could be fixed.

"If it costs Granite City $800,000 a year to repair sewer breaks and Mr. Warfield chooses to reduce this amount by $400,000 for 'paybacks' on the bond issue and sewer breaks going to be left unrepaird then the $400,000 has been spent? Mirrors have to be employed to effect a 5 percent cut in spending without cutting jobs or services. If department heads, including Mr. Warfield, maintain that they have cut expenses to the bone, then services must be cut to pay back the bonds."

"It is interesting to note that (Warfield) says he can pay back a $9 million bond issue at the rate of 5 percent per year," Cruse said.

"It is unfortunate that the people of the Granite City area are currently paying back a recently passed smaller bond issue of $6.6 million at the rate of $1.1 million a year. Only with Mac Warfield's proposal will a payback system be implemented."

"Let us remember that the school district encompasses an area including all of Nameoki Township, a big part of Chouteau Township and a part of Venice Township with a total assessed value of $22 million, com-

Cardinals moving on Metro-East side

Tomorrow is April 1. With that in mind, read on.

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff Writer

In a stunning move, the St. Louis Football Cardinals are expected to announce April 1 they plan to move into a new, 75,000-seat, inflatable, domed stadium located north of Granite City for the 1986 National Football League season.

One reliable source with the Cardinals told the Press-Record Journal yesterday the new stadium will play host to 700,000 spectators a year. The land just north of Granite City, across Illinois Route 3 from the general vicinity of the Northgate Industrial Park.

"Construction should begin by the late spring, and the Cardinals will play their first game there in August," the source said.

Madison County backed a plan to supply $80 million for construction.

Contributors reportedly will include the federal government, the National Football League and Los Angeles Raiders owner Al Davis.

Davis has won $70 million from the NFL as the result of his antitrust suit against the league after moving the team from Oakland to Los Angeles. In moving, he doesn't believe teams should be moving out of their immediate area.

"It upsets the stability of our fine league," he said.

Cardinal owner Bill Bidwill would not confirm the agreement to move the team to Illinois.

"That is a possibility," Bidwill said.

"It is just unbelievable. I thought for sure we were going to play in St. Louis or maybe even Saskatoon. Roy Green and I will have fun completing long passes through the Granite City air."

Cardinal fans have been hanging on the edge of their seats since January, when it was reported the Cardinals were looking into the possibility of moving to Phoenix, Arizona, Fla., and even New York City.

St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary has been trying to gain support for a new stadium in St. Louis County, but Madison County has apparently beaten him to the punch.

The move is expected to be a big boost to the local economy when completed with the major renovations being planned for St. Louis International Raceway.

"We will be happy to move to Granite City," said Cardinal quarterback Neil Lomax. "The Cardinals have always received good support from fans in the Metro-East area, especially Granite City. This is just unbelievable. I thought for sure we were going to play in St. Louis or maybe even Saskatoon. Roy Green and I will have fun completing long passes through the Granite City air."

Cardinal placekicker Neil O'Donoghue said he didn't care where the team would be playing, but said he had travelled through the city and the surrounding area.

"Just as long as I have a job, I don't care," O'Donoghue said.

"Maybe they will make the goalposts a little wider for me at the new stadium."

Cardinal coach Jim Hanifan said he is relieved that the questions about the Cardinals will finally be answered.

"There are some good people over there in Illinois," Hanifan said. "And we're going to fight like a son-of-a-gun to make them proud of us. I really wouldn't mind playing at The Gauntlet or soccer field where the Granite City High School team plays, but this is nice."

So professional football is finally coming to this area of Illinois. The Cardinals were perhaps the best team in the NFL not to make the playoffs last year, and expectations for this year are high.

There was also an unconfirmed rumor that preliminary discussions had started to build an arena adjacent to the new stadium for the St. Louis Blues and Steamers.

As is then again, it's probably not true, nor for that matter is any of the above.

April Fool's!

Burning waste to be licensed

WASHINGTON — the Environmental Protection Agency decided to begin granting licenses that fall to companies that want to burn hazardous industrial sludge in specially designed, high-efficiency incinerator ships far out at sea.

This means that some progress may finally be made in diminishing the mountains of dangerous chemical wastes that are piling up all over America, leaching into the soil and poisoning much of the nation's water supply.

The EPA's decision comes after years of bureaucratic brawling between the agency and the Maritime Administration, which has been pushing for expedited procedures that will allow ocean incineration. EPA, which is concerned about toxic spills — especially in port or close to shore — has been accused by Maritime of unreasonable delay in devising regulations to cover the incinerator ships.

An EPA spokesman stoutly denied that the agency's decision to begin licensing in the fall was the result of pressure from Maritime, and Maritime has been diplomatic enough not to claim victory in the long fight. But documents obtained by our associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg reveal that Maritime officials have been trying for years to build a fire under an otherwise reluctant EPA so that incineration at sea could start.

Here are a few extracts from the memos and reports that show Maritime's exasperation:

"To be perfectly candid, this situation at EPA regarding incineration at sea has reached egregious proportions," wrote one expert after reviewing EPA's draft regulations.

"The subject draft regulatory document...unfortunately does not represent a coherent and equitable regulatory scheme," grabbed another memo writer, who went on to claim that Maritime's opinion that EPA had been dragging its feet was shared by EPA scientists.

Maritime officials pointed out that international guidelines for waste destruction at sea have existed for years, and the European countries have been burning wastes fast for nearly 10 years.

Maritime accused EPA of renegeing on a 1980 commitment to a seagoing incineration program.

Why was Maritime so incensed over EPA's super-cautious approach?

Possibly because in 1982 the agency guaranteed a $55 million loan to At Sea Inc., one of the companies that wants to go into the ocean incineration business. At Sea Inc. is building two waste-burning ships, and Maritime could get stuck for at least part of the bill if EPA doesn't approve the ships for operation.

But, Maritime officials are sensitive about any suggestion that they have simply been prodding EPA or the ship-owners to protect their gamble on At Sea Inc. When a government official brought up the possibility at a meeting, a Maritime expert was moved to respond with a bristling memo.

"It is most unfortunate that someone with your position and responsibilities is so inadequately informed," the Maritime official wrote.

FUTURE FILE: Diplomatic ties between India and the United States have been severely strained since the Indo-Pakistani war of the early 1970s. But with the election of Rajiv Gandhi as the prime minister of India, the experts expect vast improvement in relations between the world's two largest democracies.

Commercial ties, for example, will be strengthened. The United States is already India's single biggest trading partner, with more than $4 billion worth of goods and services exchanged each year. American corporations, encouraged by Gandhi's recent moves to eliminate needless economic controls and stimulate private-sector competition, are eager to do business in India. Sixty U.S. companies displayed their wares at a recent high-tech fair in Bombay.

Under a secret memorandum of understanding signed recently, the United States will also permit the sale to India of previously classified high-tech items. India is the world's 10th largest industrial power and is in a good position to absorb vast amounts of computer and aerospace technology — which the United States would be delighted to provide.

U.S. officials are awaiting signals from India, such as the lifting of protectionist bureaucratic procedures.

Amalgamated Wolf out on the prowl

Once upon a time there was a sweet thing called Red Riding Hood, who owned Little Red Riding Hood Inc., a small company that made children's dresses. One day she was walking down Wall Street when she met a great big wolf (Amalgamated Wolf).

"Where are you going, Red Riding Hood?" the wolf said.

"To Grandmother Pizza's office with this new issue of stock which I hope will make her well."

The wolf thought to himself, "What a tasty morsel, I could eat Grandmother Pizza for breakfast and Red Riding Hood Inc. for lunch."

The wolf then said, "Where are you Grandmother's office?"

And Red Riding Hood replied, "In the World Trade Center building."

The wolf then said, "Would you like to have a hot pretzel from the stand over there?"

"Why not? They are not expecting me at Grandmother's board meeting for a half-hour."

The wolf did not reply.

"Oh Grandmother, what big ears you have."

"The better to hear all the merger rumors on the street," the wolf replied.

"Oh, Grandmother, what big eyes you have."

"The better to read everyone's latest financial report."

"What big hands you've got."

"The better to grab all your assets with, my dear."

"Grandmother, what big teeth you have."

"The better to eat you with!" And with that the wolf sprang upon his chair and made a lunge for Red Riding Hood, who easily sidestepped him and knocked him to the floor.

"What are you doing?" the stunned wolf asked.

"Red Riding Hood sat on the wolf's stomach and said, "I'm taking you over."

"You can't take me over," the wolf said. "I'm five times bigger than you are."

"Size means nothing," Red Riding Hood said. "The only thing that counts is how much money I can raise to get control."

"You could find enough dough to buy a great big wolf."

"I'll make a leveraged

Whilst Red Riding Hood was eating her pretzel and drinking her soda the wolf sped off to the World Trade Center. He dashed into Grandmother Pizza's office and ate poor Grandmother up.

Then he pulled the curtains and sat in her leather chair.

Red Riding Hood was ushered in by the secretary.

"Good morning, Grandmother."

The wolf did not reply.

buyout. I'll cut off your head and sell it to a museum, your coat to a furrier and your teeth to a key chain company. It's all here in the prospectus."

"The SEC will never let you do it."

"They haven't stopped anyone from swallowing anybody else up yet," Red Riding Hood said.

"Wait," the wolf said. "Why can't we make this a friendly takeover? Give me a golden parachute and I'll never try to eat you again."

"Sorry, but it's too late," and with that Red Riding Hood cut open the wolf's stomach and out popped her grandmother, who had a grin on her face.

The grandmother said, "It worked, I knew we could get control once he got fat and cocky."

Red Riding Hood said, "Where do you get that 'we' stuff, Grandma? I'm spinning you off to Standard Oil of New Jersey."

Tired of those four-wheelers

To the Editor:

I live on an acreage, 20 miles from several nice cities including the big city St. Louis. To many this would be the ideal place to live, knowing we are only minutes away from the best hospitals and doctors and shopping and churches and everything else.

I'll tell you what's on my mind. What began as an emergency delivery of blood is now used for pathological and evidential sample transfer, biology and serum transport, transfers of vitally needed medicines or anti-venoms or hospital equipment or specialist personnel — as well as for people urgently requiring medical services from anywhere to anywhere.

While the "angel planes" make no charge whatever for their services, many private donations come from people whose check is accompanied by a note which says, "Thanks for saving my friend's life..."

The Muscular Dystrophy Assn., the Heart Assn., blood donor banks — all are enthusiastic about the "angel planes" and urge expansion of the service.

Expansion requires more volunteer pilots and more money, either of which should be directed to the Medical Support Flight Team, 1221 N. Decatur Blvd., Suite 2, Las Vegas, Nev. 89108; 1-702-646-3444. Contributions are tax-deductible.

The pilots and their equipment are able to negotiate the smallest and most remote landing strips when necessary.

What began as an emergency delivery of blood is now used for pathological and evidential sample transfer, biology and serum transport, transfers of vitally needed medicines or anti-venoms or hospital equipment or specialist personnel — as well as for people urgently requiring medical services from anywhere to anywhere.

We have asked the mayor's office and the aldermen, what can we do to control them?

It seems to me you would stop and think about whose property you may be on when you leave the blacktop. If you are not sure, find out.

Maybe later, I'll write a letter to the editor on illegal dumping. Right now, I've got to try to get a four-wheeler out of my wheat field.

Empty promises...

center in every town but Granite. Oh yes, they want our votes, but when then? The aldermen raise the sewage bills and the rest of the city's taxes, but they can't do anything about the services, clinic or care for the needy in our town.

This town needs cleaning up. The streets are terrible and dirty. We can't drive on them unless we knock our cars out of balance.

Everyone knows what I'm trying to say.

Don't eliminate street superintendent, Warfield tells city mayoral candidate

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff Writer

Mac Warfield, street superintendent and candidate for mayor of Granite City, issued a statement last week voicing his opposition to a proposal to eliminate the office of street superintendent and replace it with a director of public works.

Warfield said fellow candidate Von Dee Cruse made that statement at the Chamber of Commerce candidate's forum March 11.

But Cruse said this week he never suggested eliminating the office, but it did suggest a director of public works be added as a city employee.

"The new director would work with the street superintendent quite a bit," Cruse said. "They could hardly avoid that. But I never said anything about eliminating the other office."

"In 1975, Mayor Schuler convinced a lame duck city council to reconstitute the city and have a street superintendent, an elected office," Warfield said. "The people spent a lot of time and tax dollars passing a referendum, rejecting the mayor's proposal and telling him not to play politics with their streets and sewers. They shouldn't have to tell Von Dee Cruse what the same thing in 1985."

Warfield contends appointing someone else aside from the street superintendent to tackle the city's sewer problems would not solve any problems.

"Before I became street superintendent, the city was throwing away hundreds of thousands of dollars hiring private contractors to repair breaks in pipes," Warfield said. "When I took office, we made a small investment in equipment and put the street department crew to work fixing breaks and saving the city over a half-million dollars a year."

Warfield said other candidates couldn't compare with him as far as his record with sewer breaks is concerned.

Warfield said Cruse "gave us the mess we have today when he headed the special sewer committee responsible for approving plans and inspecting work for our current sewer system."

Cruse said he got involved in the committee in 1984, as an alderman, when the sewer installation project was half finished.

"Our plans were approved by three different engineering firms in the area," he said. "They saw nothing wrong whatsoever. I had the legal courage to take charge at that time. But I am not an engineer. I can't be held responsible for what happened later."

"It didn't happen overnight. I think it was 20 years before we had problems with breaks."

Parents question kindergarten cutoff date

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff Writer

The parent of a 4-year-old preschool student in Granite City questions the school board's March 26 about the cutoff policy decision changing the cutoff date for entering kindergarten.

After action at the March 5 meeting, students have to turn 5 years old on or before Dec. 1 to enter kindergarten that fall. Prior to that, students had to turn 5 on or before Dec. 31.

Shelly Haldeiman, whose son Joshua will turn 5 on Dec. 15, asked the board why the change was made now.

She was concerned Joshua might now have to go to pre-school for a third year or stay home from school next year.

"I think allowances should be made for those children who are in certified pre-schools now," Haldeiman said. "I think there are only four kids in pre-school now who are affected."

She said affected would be those in pre-school now and were born between Dec. 2 and Dec. 31.

"As it stands now, my son will either have to go to pre-school for a third year or mark time at school," Haldeiman said.

Board President Kelly Hogan said it was not the board's intention to create the problem, and suggested action could be taken on the matter at a special board meeting called for Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. at the board offices.

"We understand the problem perfectly," said board member Tom Miofsky. "But if we don't settle the matter before our April 9 meeting, you might have to enroll him in St.

Peter's School for the Young Years (the pre-school, Joshua has attended again.)

Haldeiman said she needed to make a decision in the next two weeks, as registration for both the preschool and kindergarten is coming up in early April.

"I am pressed for time," she said. "There has been a state law for 20 years making Dec. 1 the cutoff date, and this district has ignored it. I don't know why they suddenly had to do it now."

Superintendent of Schools Frank Kraus said the district changed their policy to be in step with other schools in the area.

"What we might end up doing is create a 'grandfather' type ruling, which would let kids already in pre-school can go into kindergarten without worrying with the new policy," Kraus said. "But when we made the law, we made it for the majority of the kids, not for the few who are affected. But we might have to make an exception for them."

Haldeiman said there would be no curriculum for Joshua next year, which would be his third year in preschool.

"If a child is ready to do beginning kindergarten work, it would be unfair to have him stay in pre-school or stay home," she said.

The board will discuss the matter at the board meeting Wednesday night and will also discuss the search for a new superintendent.

Board President Kelly Hogan said the board is still trying to come together to find a time when all members can visit the home of one of the possible candidates.

Schuler endorsed

The United Steelworkers of America, Granite City subdistrict, on March 25 announced their support and endorsement for the re-election of Mayor Paul Schuler.

"During his three terms in office, which could not have been more difficult times, Schuler has repeatedly shown great leadership, integrity and ability in leading the city government," a spokesman said.

Corrections

In the March 23 issue of the Press-Record, it erroneously stated that Mayor Paul Schuler, who is a candidate for re-election on Tuesday, is divorced. We regret the error. In the article, which gave biographical information on the four major candidates.

Donna Sproh is the wife of Richard Harper, a candidate for city clerk in Madison. The Press-Record incorrectly identified Harper's wife as being Donna Sproh. Harper is also a nine-year resident of Madison, not a 30-year resident.

Rev. Hubert Butler to lead revival

Rev. Hubert A. Butler, a native of Cushing, Okla., will lead a revival at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice, beginning Sunday and continuing through April 15.

Pastor of the Union Baptist Church, the East St. Louis, Rev. Butler, will speak each night at 8 p.m.

He received a B.A. Degree from the Langston University, Langston, Okla., and a Master's Degree from Webster College in St. Louis. Rev. Butler has served the East St. Louis church, which he organized, for 26 years.

The Rev. John H. Williams, host pastor, extends an invitation to the public to attend the week long services.

Chouteau Township Tuesday night adopted its road district budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 and ending March 31, 1986, increasing the contributions from $6,495 to $224,725.

According to Wilfred "Bud" Eberhart, township highway commissioner, the budget is patterned closely after the 1984-85 road program.

Vickers noted the latter amount is in preparation for his proposed retirement two years from now.

At the end of an emergency session, the board approved a new three-year contract for the district superintendent, extending through June 30, 1988.

Although he is planning to retire at the end of the 1986-87 school year, a two-year option is still part of the agreement.

Added to the regular bill for approval were requisitions for textbooks and other supplies totaling $1,000. The new contract with Venecia-Lincoln Technical Center, a $1 transaction were authorized.

A lively discussion ensued on proposals for removing 10 large lighting poles from the Venice school's athletic field. The subject had been raised at several previous occasions, it was noted.

Sanitary District establishes 1985 budget

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff Writer

The Metro-East Sanitary District (MESD) Board adopted a $1,674,740 budget for the 1985 fiscal year, beginning Jan. 1 and ending Dec. 31. The new budget calls for $86,543 more in revenues and expenditures than last year's appropriations of $3,593,700.

Approved Wednesday morning, the 1985 budget earmarks $1,674,740 for project costs, $163,450 for the administration department, $50,000 for the engineering department and $746,500 for the general maintenance fund, totaling the total general fund to $2,894,740.

LAST YEAR'S budget appropriated $2,707,110 in the general fund, including $1,692,490 for project costs, $227,120 for the administration department, $25,000 for the engineering department and $762,500 for the general maintenance fund.

MESD officials set aside $140,000 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund this year—$4,000 more than last year. Another $20,000 is appropriated for the auditing fund, the same amount as was appropriated last year.

In the liability insurance fund, $135,000 has been appropriated this year, while $110,000 was appropriated last year. This year's and last year's budgets contain a $300,000 appropriation for emergency services and operations, while the capital improvement fund increased by $100,000 this year, bringing that fund to $150,000.

IN OTHER action Wednesday, the board approved an ordinance that would allow Illinois Bell to cross a levy at Highway 50 and Route 137. Illinois Bell will pay $1,000 per underground cable through the levy and will pay MESD $255 a year for the right of way.

A $26,724 bill for plans and specifications for the renovation of the Lansdowne Sewage Treatment Plant was approved as part of the engineer's work, performed by Hurst-Rosche Engineering, Inc.

by $100,000 this year, bringing that fund to $150,000.

THE FEDERAL and state EPAs have ordered the MESD to remove both the Lansdowne and Cahokia sewage treatment plants.

Greathouse also told the board that he has received word from the EPA that the board will be held liable for hazardous equipment. But, he added, the bids, ranging from $6,000 to $7,000, were only taken so that he could ascertain how much such a trailer might cost. He said nothing would be purchased at this time. "We took the bids to see what we could get for one. All we wanted to do was get some idea."

Greathouse explained.

Board member Robert Bergman noted that the bids had been opened when they were presented to the board, and that the board should probably take no action on them. He asked that they be placed on file.

FINALLY, the board approved a bid of $14,428 for a Ford Crown Victoria car to be used for business purposes by Greathouse, who said the car he now is using is "falling apart," and that the board should probably take no action on them. He asked that they be placed on file.

Road district budget totals $422,914

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff Writer

The Nameoki Township Board of Trustees had adopted a $422,914 road district budget for March 1, 1985, through Feb. 28, 1986. The new budget reflects an increase in anticipated revenues and expenditures of $69,370 over last year's budget of $353,544.

Anticipated revenues for this year include $241,090 in the general road fund, $152,915 from the permanent road fund and $28,000 from the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

ANTICIPATED expenditures in the general road fund include $77,550 for the administrative division, $30,000 for the engineering division, $49,445 for the equipment division and $10,700 for contingencies.

Following the passage of the budget Monday night, former Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Methellic questioned the sharp increase in the budget for this year's budget over last year's.

He also asked why $26,445 had been budgeted for a "legal agreement per arbitration" in the equipment division of the general road fund.

Methellic further questioned an item of $10,000 budget expense for "lease purchase equipment."

METHELIC TOLD the Press-Record that the legal agreement expense concerned him. He explained that on Sept. 30, 1983, he laid off seven men from the road district. One of those men was mechanic Ray Denson.

Denson, Methellic contends, took a leave of absence for health reasons, and when he returned, Methellic told him he had been dismissed because of "budgetary reasons."

Later, Methellic recruited two men, but didn't rehire Denson, who had seniority over one of the men. Denson filed a grievance about his dismissal and an arbitrator ruled that Denson should be reinstated and given back pay.

INSTEAD, Denson was rehired. Denson, Methellic filed a petition with Madison County Associate Judge Norman Kinder, asking Kinder to review the arbitrator's ruling and determine whether Denson should get his job back.

On Oct. 12, 1984, Methellic was ousted from his position following an official misconduct conviction in July, and Denson was rehired by W. Lee Adams, who was appointed to fill the highway commissioner position.

Methellic charges that Nameoki Township Attorney Irvin "Slate" Jr., failed to follow through on the court petition, and now the township is obligated to pay Denson back pay.

DR. STEPHEN L. KLEIN, Judge Kinder dismissed the petition and ordered the township to pay Denson the back pay.

Adams says he and Denson have not yet determined exactly how much back pay Denson deserves. Adams says Denson not only is entitled to his salary, but also benefits.

In questioning the $18,000 for lease purchase equipment, Methellic pointed out that he entered into a lease agreement with the township that had leased through Community Development funds during the previous summer. In mid-October, the township broke that contract by sending the machine back to the supplier, Methellic charged.

BUT ADAMS contends that Methellic attempted to purchase a blacktopping machine with community development funds, which

City pays sewer break bills: $37,648

Granite City aldermen approved a motion Tuesday night to pay bills totaling $37,648 to six subcontractors which were awarded contracts to repair city sewer breaks. Davinroy Contractors, Inc., hired the subcontractors for various jobs on nine of the breaks.

The bill was approved upon recommendation of Irvin C. slate Jr., a city attorney, who told council members in a letter that the bill should be paid to avoid possible lawsuits.

According to Acting Engineer Ed Schulze, one of the sewer breaks contracted to Davinroy is completed, and the other eight are at various stages of completion. Ap-

YOU CAN BE "SURE" WITH SCHULER

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL CITIZENS OF GRANITE CITY!

Four years ago, we, the EMT's and Paramedics of the Granite City Ambulance Service, came to the citizens of Granite City with an open letter. We feel we must do this again.

In the past four years, the quality of Emergency Medical Care has been improved to you under the Schuler administration.

1. Purchase of two new vehicles — one purchased by the EMT's and Paramedics and donated to the city, the other purchased by funds available through the efforts of the Mayor and Council.
2. Six EMT's are involved in the extensive Paramedic Training Program.
3. We were the "First" Municipally Operated Life Support Unit in Southern Illinois.
4. We have the most full time Paramedic staff in Madison County.
5. We have the most qualified and equipped Advanced Life Support Vehicles in Madison County.
6. Besides the EMT's and Paramedic staff several of these men are also State Certified Emergency Rescue Technicians and CPR Instructors.
7. Combined we amass over 82 years of qualified experience to serve you better.
8. In the event an emergency should arise you can rest assured no matter what time of day or night you will receive the proper emergency care in no more than 4-5 minutes.
9. Though efforts have been made to eliminate this qualified service rendered to you, the Citizens of Granite City, Mayor Schuler has fought this with only your welfare in mind.
10. We have the ability to transport the Emergency Room care to you in the field.

ALL THESE POINTS HAVE BEEN ACCOMPLISHED UNDER THE SCHULER ADMINISTRATION

Because this service has been kept alive during the Schuler administration the EMT's and Paramedics have been able to provide several Community Services, such as the . . .

1. Senior Citizens Annual Christmas Dance
2. Christmas Party at SEMC and donations of Lifeline Units to be used in the Community.
3. Annual Christmas Basket Drive, now serving more than 100 needy families.
4. Several smaller donations to indigent and emergency cases as they arise.

Therefore, we the undersigned unanimously endorse, and ask you to join us on April 2, 1985, and VOTE TO RE-ELECT MAYOR PAUL SCHULER.

To Whom It May Concern:

My wife and I feel sincerely that we should express a word of appreciation regarding the most excellent service we received from our local Paramedics.

March 21, just passed, a little before seven in the morning my wife was stricken with an angina attack. The 911 Center was called and our local Paramedics with the Paramedics arrived in under three minutes. Their efficiency and manner were such as to give us reassurance and support which we so much needed.

In June of last year, I was a patient who needed their services, and received the very same quality of service. I would like to neglect to express our appreciation at that time so late, now.

We feel that we here in Granite City are very fortunate indeed to have such especially fine Paramedics services.

Our sincere thanks.

Cruse opposes Warfield

(Continued from Page 1) pared to Granite City's assessed value of $215 million. To negotiate a proposal, we have to take into account city services or tax increases. Are we going to need three additional $9 million bond issues to complete the job (fixing sewers)?

"We are sorry the plan is presented at such a late date and we would have liked to see the plan before it was presented, but it was sound economic reasoning rather than mirrors."

Warfield's plan includes "trimming the fat from the city budget with an across the board 3 to 5 percent cut in all departments, netting a minimum of $350,000 without eliminating any jobs or city services."

He would also cut costs in the city's engineering and legal departments by $50,000 without affecting services.

"These moves alone would allow Granite City to authorize bond sales 183 illegally registered voters were removed as a result of our applications.

25 applications were withdrawn by us as soon as proof was given that the voter was properly registered.

6 of the withdrawals were made to correct our errors.

19 of the withdrawals were made after errors in the County Clerk's office were corrected, these included dual registrations and being registered in the wrong precinct or city.

10 applications were denied after the hearing and those voters were allowed to remain on the voting list.

8 of the 10 voters resided in Venice Precinct #9, Ward 2.

2 of the 8 voters in Precinct #9 claimed to reside in basement apartments at 1227 Madison Avenue.

1 of the 8 voters in Precinct #9 claimed to reside in a room at the rear of a tavern at 1225a Madison Avenue (said voter also claimed to have residences in E. St. Louis, Ill.; West Alton, Mo.; and Hot Springs, Ark.

'Mac for Mayor' a good idea

Mac Warfield is our choice for Granite City mayor and we think he should be elected.

For one thing, he is honest. His issues make Mac interesting and appealing. It's refreshing to hear a man speak only about what he thinks, even if it sometimes disagrees with those who could assist in advancing his political career, including the Press-Record's editorial staff.

We believe Mac is honest, but if honesty alone were the criteria, voters would still be unsure who to vote for in this critical election. Where good men are vying for the city's most important job, research planning, setting goals and striving to reach them, that's what Granite City needs.

Down town needs help. It needed help for a long time. Mac offers the appointment of an economic development coordinator to an area in revitalization work. But Mac sees beyond downtown's needs. He wants all the city's economic sectors to operate on a growth basis. He wants to see business and industry thrive. He will appoint to long-needed economic development coordinator to work toward the improvement of a united business community.

Downtown needs money for revitalization. Mac has a viable plan to provide the money without raising taxes. The amazing thing about the plan is that it's down to earth and the written in black and white, and it holds up to analysis.

Put another way, the city can expect about $1 million in federal and state grants in the next two years. Rather than continuing to spend $800,000 annually to patch sewers, Mac would spend only half that amount. The $400,000 saved would be used to pay off $9 million in general obligation bonds within two years, under Mac's plan, the city would have the money at its disposal and a means to repay the bonds without raising taxes.

With the $10 million, Mac will work toward ending the CYCLE of patching and retrenching sewer breaks of $7.5 million; $1.5 million will be used for street resurfacing rather than street paving; $500,000 will be used for demolishing condemned buildings and for sidewalk work; and $500,000 will be used to alleviate flooding in residential areas.

Mac's plan doesn't require raising an out-of-pocket expense to develop a plan. Mac didn't engineer at a cost of $30,000 to do so. Mac didn't need Mac to offer a service. That's the kind of guy, get-it-done leadership that's needed.

A good man with a good plan can be enough to get the job on the right track, but Mac needs more.

He's known well not only at the county level, where the wellspring of his friends is the national level.

He's the wellspring of the grants that will give a city economic vitality. Evidence of Mac's appeal is that

St. Louis' Melvin Price is a political landmark.

When Mac got the endorsement in a mayoral race, Mac got the endorsement in a mayoral race. Mac can't be sure his concerns are not only going to be represented, then he needs

Mac stands for integrity and leadership, and he has friends from the Capitol on down. But Mac offers one thing more that makes him our choice — a concern for the public's interest.

Mac isn't running in an attempt to make himself look better. Mac is running because he wants to help people. He wants downtown on its feet. He wants water out of your basements. He will take off the telephone tag. He wants people to go in and out to serve the people and not the other way around. He wants to see people working in Granite City. He's a "people person" — that's

Mac. We believe Mac's the best man for the job. We believe he is a capable leader devoted to his mayoral post. As he's been to his superintendent's position. For these reasons, Mac is our choice, but more importantly, for the leadership that's your man too, Granite City, and we urge you to cast your vote April 2 for Mac Warfield.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF MADISON:

As a citizen interested in the future of Madison, I attended the council meeting which took place March 26.

Various ordinances were imposed by suspending the rules, at the behest of acting Mayor Tom Garrett and City Attorney Daniel Nighohossian, relating to the annexation of several parcels of real estate which are adjacent to a 30 year old landfill located east of Highway 203 at St. Clair County line and across from the St. Louis International Speedway.

After being closeted with several of the aldermen in the Mayor's office prior to the council meeting (despite the open meeting law) the mayor stated to the council that certain secret deals related to the acreage being annexed once the water line was installed, but that he was not in a position to divulge any of the details to the council. The council was requested to blindly annex the acreage, even though Alderman Garrett brought out by question that the $214,000 investment in the water line had not gone thru the Finance Committee and where the money was to come from was a consideration that should be thought about before voting.

City Attorney Nighohossian stated that speed was of the essence in enacting the ordinances. St. Clair County would not be held responsible for "steel and mineral" deal from Madison if the council was given no details as to who, why or what anyone in St. Clair County had in mind. The city residents would have been far better served had a feasibility study had been made, checking out the dirt core samples, the water contamination, and the financial outcome before acting. Past experience throughout the entire United States has proved that landfills contain contaminants which not only affect the ground on which they are situated, but also leach off to the surrounding areas. It was the responsibility of the aldermen with respect to their sworn duty to their constituents to have demanded that this be done prior to enacting any ordinances.

With the landfill in existence for 30 years, it was only the last 10 years that there were any EPA controls on toxic wastes being dumped; no determination or study was given to the council by a reliable authority as to the condition of the area being annexed, and what liability the city would be assuming for toxic wastes dumped many years ago — ARE WE ACCEPTING AN ILLINOIS TIMES BEACH???

A big deal is made of the presentation of the acreage by Waste Management, Inc., but after they have taken off all their cover dirt (the proximity of the location will save them in hauling costs approximately 3 million) but we may have been presented with far far more than 3 million in liability farther down in time, once the toxic wastes have seeped into the lake that is so beautifully depicted in the drawings Mr. Gordon hauls around. A BIG CONTAMINATED HOLE IN THE GROUND does not depict that well. Waste Management made core samples, did they bother to give the test results to the City???

Alderman Rockett pleaded to table the action until more information was available, Alderman Garrett thought that the Finance Committee had not even been consulted, let alone made any recommendation. No legitimate business corporation would ever conduct business in this hurry-up sit-down manner. No check was made that the petitioners for annexation actually owned the property in question either.

As a Madison taxpayer and homeowner, I have grave and serious doubt about the leadership shown in this venture, and what it will cost, me, my children and future generations not only in money but in grief.

Said KETC President and General Manager Mike Hardgrove, "We are thrilled to be selling the second

Channel 9 Auction home in conjunction with Mason Homes and its sub-

Coterie celebrates 90th anniversary

The 90th anniversary of the Ladies Coterie was observed at a special luncheon meeting at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ.

Founded March 25, 1895, the local club is the oldest Federated Woman's Club in Granite City and one of the oldest federated clubs in the 22nd District of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Mrs. Fred Werner, president, welcomed the guests as they arrived. Prior to the luncheon, a social hour was enjoyed, those present viewing a special display of early club memorabilia.

The display contained the first book used by the secretary in 1895, the original constitution and membership plus the treasurer's reports. Dues were five cents per meeting, or ten cents if a member was absent, it was noted.

During the social Mrs. Walter Klein, entertained at the piano and Mr. Clarence Boettiger served punch.

Tables decorations were in pink and white, the club colors. Before the dinner, Mrs. Louis Meek gave the invocation.

Mrs. Marvin Eddington, president, welcomed the members and introduced Mrs. David John, who read a history of early club meetings and activities. Mrs. John stated that 90 years ago four ladies met at the home of Mrs. Mark Henson to organize a charitable and social club.

Mrs. Henson, whose husband was the agent of the Niedringhaus interests in the territory, was elected honorary life member, president emeritus. Mrs. George Webb, the wife of a contractor in the area, and the vice president was Mrs. J. McRoberts, whose husband was the first superintendent of the American Steel Foundry. Mrs. J. Chase was named treasurer. Her husband was the only physician in Granite City at that time. Later, Dr. Chase was named the first postmaster of Granite City.

The rolling command post will be driven to various crime scenes in the Illinois and Missouri portions of the bi-state metropolitan area. The squad has jurisdiction in 12 counties. It will install in the vehicle an array of identification and evidence-collecting equipment similar to that of a crime laboratory. Donor of the motor home is the Midwest Gateway Recreational Vehicles Association.

club's support. For a number of years the club has provided a summer scholarship to either the music or speech department of Granite City High School. At each regular meeting a gift is made to a special program. The name of the club is presented.

At the conclusion of Mrs. John's remarks she gave special recognition to the following women: Mrs. Fred Werner, for the longest continuous membership (40 years), and Mrs. E.F. Miller, and Mrs. S. Miller, 40 years. She then presented each member with a pink carnation.

The name "The Ladies Coterie," was selected. According to the first bylaws, "Their avowed intention was to alleviate distressed conditions of the community as they met and to do whatever good they might be called upon to do, while at the same time enjoying social meetings together."

During the late 1890s and early 1900s, the ladies were concerned mainly with helping needy women and children. They also acted as a purchasing group, buying overalls at 60 cents a pair, for young boys so they could attend school, and providing medicine for sick children.

At each meeting bills were allowed to be voted on for needy families.

The club maintained an active relief committee.

One unusual action of the committee was the purchase of a cow for a widow with small children.

In the early 1920s the members enjoyed a social meeting at the local hospital, and were kept busy replacing the linens and cleaning the room painted.

As the years passed, and times directed to supporting with charities, including the United Way,

Legion Children to observe Youth Month

The American Legion will observe Children and Youth Month during April, Commander Paul Weathers of Tri-City American Legion Post 113 of Granite City, Illinois, said.

The observance in Granite City will be one of many throughout the nation as 16,000 Legion posts and nearly 14,000 auxiliary units plan special events to emphasize the Legion's continuing concern for the well-being of the nation's children and youth.

For more than 60 years, the American Legion and its affiliated organizations have devoted countless hours of volunteer effort and millions of dollars in support of programs and activities for the benefit of children and youth, it was noted.

Weathers said that during the 12-month period ending May 31, 1984, a total of $25,412,887 was spent in this program area, bringing the grand total of expenditures by the Legion and its affiliates since 1926 to $504,799,949.

Three major areas of concern on which the Legion is focusing its attention on a national basis are drug abuse prevention, missing children and teenage suicide prevention, Weathers said.

Legion Post 113 directs its primary efforts toward local sponsored programs, the Boy's State and Girl's State programs, geared to encouraging civic responsibility and leadership potential, and the traditional oratorical contest at Granite City High School, among other projects.

Weathers said the national theme of the American Legion is "We're Winning! Get Involved!"

"For years, we have developed many programs to serve youth and we think these programs are winners. We challenge all to get involved," the commander said.

Fund-raiser held

A campaign fundraiser for Seventh Ward Alderman candidate Darlene Laub was held at Worthen's restaurant more than 1,000 persons Monday evening to the New Knights of Columbus Hall. After dining, the guests were welcomed by master-of-ceremonies, Carl Kittel; Jake Varadian and Sharon Perjak; Park Board candidate Dora Gonzales-Dardis; Union officials John Weil and James Kelso; many precinct committeemen and numerous Seventh Ward residents.

The evening culminated with music by the dance band, "The Third Wind."

Jagger a mystery called successful

By Robin Welles
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — It's been 20 years since Mick Jagger rolled onto the scene and jerked his skinny body around, shouting something then called the Rolling Stones.

One of life's mysteries is how such a puny-looking person could muster the explosive energy that radiated from the stage and paved a first album called, appropriately, "No Fury Away."

Now 41, and still as lean as ever, Jagger has decided to go solo for the first time with his "She's the Boss" album for Columbia. Could be that his decision and marketing team to do with the lukewarm reception accorded the Stones' last studio album, "Undercover."

Whatever the reason, Jagger has come forth with a blazing blend of rock, reggae, fusion and pop served up against a backdrop of high-tech electronics. It is, in short, VERY MODERN Jagger. But the LP is carried, as usual, by his very personal vocal pyrotechnics. The voice shows no signs of waning — or softening — with age.

Jagger has, of course, not abandoned the Rolling Stones. The group has been pondering a new album in Paris, hoping to take the sting out of the "Undercover" jaded rock taste and make it appeal to a few people. The Stones are seeking a mid-1980s image for their next album — a new, refreshing direction.

Only problem with this is that Jagger already has launched himself in a new direction with some pretty electronics. If it works, the Stones probably will roll along the same path.

ROCKWELL — Captured (Motown) — He's a lot like Michael Jackson — and small wonder. Says this 21-year-old: "When I moved out to LA (from Detroit), we lived in a house once owned by the Jacksons. I saw them a lot, and it inspired me to learn to dance like him." But Rockwell isn't a clone of Michael. He's very much his own performer with a funky, sensuous style. And, visually, he's a delight.

SAWYER BROWN (Capitol) — Rock quintet won the nationally televised "Star Search" talent show, so here they are with an album debut, courtesy of Capitol Records.

MADISON ON THE MOVE

A big congratulations to the City of Madison on their recent annexations. What a fantastic achievement by the City Administration and Thomas S. Gordon, who is determined to make our city the most prosperous city in Illinois. I hope the people realize and appreciate all the hard work that went into this project. Being so close to St. Louis and the Interstate Highways, this land is in a very desirable location for business and industry of all kinds. Which means jobs for our people. All areas of possible problems were investigated thoroughly by the City Attorney.

Would you believe that some of our SO CALLED "Concerned Citizens" and Alderman Rockett tried to stop this annexation at the last council meeting with false accusations and deprive our city of all of this added revenue (approximately $55,000 to $80,000)! Luckily they did not succeed, so we can look ahead to a very bright future. A few years ago, this same group of citizens saw fit to ruin Madison's plan of owning their own cable TV system by fighting Home Rule with false rumors and lies. They are using the same tactics trying to defeat Thomas S. Gordon for Mayor.

PLEASE GET THE TRUTH AND THE FACTS STRAIGHT BEFORE MAKING YOUR CHOICE.

I will support and encourage my friends to support Thomas S. Gordon for Mayor and the Madison Improvement Party candidates in the April 2nd election.

Mastering the flavorful art of deep-frying favorite foods

Whether you choose to deep fry in olive oil or other oil, certain procedures should be followed.

To keep the temperature of oil at an optimal 375°F., bring the food to be fried to the temperature before adding to the hot oil.

Do not add too many pieces at a time, as this will bring the temperature of the oil in the pan down and increase the risk of greasy foods.

Vegetables being added to hot oil for deep frying should be thoroughly dry, as water remaining on their surfaces can cool the oil, too. Do not add salt to food before frying, as this brings moisture to the surface.

If you're deep-frying breaded foods, be sure the coating is well adhered before adding to the hot oil.

Any breadcrumbs which detach will remain in oil and begin to burn, causing the food you're cooking to turn bitter and degenerate. If this happens, you're better off saving and reusing the oil, this is especially vital.

Any oil to be reused should be cooled, strained, and placed in a vessel that accommodates it as nearly as possible and stored in the refrigerator.

Do not worry if it clouds over after refrigeration; if it is still usable, it will clarify when it is heated again.

All of this has an important proviso: Oil, as it is used, degenerates as a result of heat, light, and burn food particles.

When this occurs, use the worn oil which has been previously used is no longer fit for cooking: When it is rancid, thickened, darkened, or begins to smoke when heated below the temperature of 375°F. At that point, it should be discarded for safety as well as aesthetics.

The versatility of deep-frying is proven by the following recipes. The Beer Batter recipe, developed by the International Beer Council, is ideal for coated vegetables: artichokes, broccoli, cauliflower, eggplant, and mushrooms prior to deep-frying.

The Garlic Mayonnaise, made with olive oil, provides a moist, complementary dip for the fried vegetables.

BEER BATTER

1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons olive oil
1/4 to 1 cup beer
2 egg yolks

Mix flour, salt in bowl. Add beer, stir smooth. Beat in egg yolks. Allow batter to rest for 30-45 minutes before using. For a lighter batter, stir in beaten whites just prior to coating vegetables.

GARLIC MAYONNAISE

4 cloves garlic, mashed using mortar and pestle (garlic may be mashed with broad side of knife with a small amount of salt)

2 egg yolks
1 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons white vinegar

Let juice of white vinegar

In bowl with mashed garlic, add beaten egg yolks until blended. Add olive oil in slow stream stirring all the time. When ingredients are well mixed, continue stirring with a wire, remaining olive oil, continuing to stir. Add squeeze of fresh lemon juice. Adjust with salt.

Another approach to deep-fried vegetables is the Tortas de Coliflor, a low-fat volume, Martha Stewart's Hors D'Oeuvres (Clarkson N. Potter, Inc.) Stewart's recipe for Tortas de Coliflor is a very savory and appealing addition to the cocktail hour, or to an extended hors d'oeuvres party.

TORTAS DE COLIFLOR

Makes 30 cauliflower balls
1 medium head of cauliflower, steamed until tender
1/2 cups grated white Cheddar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Pinch of cayenne pepper
1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg
4 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley (optional)
4 egg whites, beaten to soft peaks
Vegetable oil for frying

It's Time For A Change

VON DEE CRUSE FOR MAYOR
PAID BY CITIZENS TO ELECT CRUSE
MARK GOLDENBERG, TREASURER

1/2 cups bread crumbs (preferably Jiffy)

Put the cooked cauliflower in the bowl of a food processor with the cheese, salt, black pepper, cayenne pepper, and nutmeg. Process until coarsely chopped.

Put the cauliflower mixture in a bowl, add the flour and stir until smooth. Add the parmesan, if desired, and combine well. Fold the softly beaten eggs into the mixture.

In a heavy wok or cast iron skillet, heat 3 inches of oil to 360°.

Drop tablespoons of the cauliflower mixture, breaded crumbs and coat well. Roll into balls and fry in the oil until golden brown, 4 to 6 minutes. Drain on paper towels and serve hot.

NOTE: Jiffy bread crumbs are available in Oriental markets.

From the Orient comes the final recipe: Fried Chicken Shish Kabob, reproduced from Chinese Cuisine From the Master Chefs of China (Little, Brown and Co.) by the editors of China Pictorial, The People's Republic of China.

FRIED CHICKEN SHISH KABOB (Zhi Jirouchuan)

1/2 lb. (250 g) chicken breast meat
2 eggs
(1/2 teaspoon MSG)
1/2 tablespoon rice wine
1/2 cup (55 g) flour
3 tablespoons sesame seeds
1 teaspoon chopped scallion
1/2 teaspoon sesame paste
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon minced peeled fresh ginger
2 1/2 cups (625 ml) vegetable oil 1 cucumber, peeled and decoratively sliced, for garnish
2 red peppers, decoratively cut,
for garnish

1. Cut the chicken breast diagonally into 1 1/2-to-1-inch (2.5 x 2 x 2.5-cm) cubes and soak them in salted water for a few minutes.

2. In a medium-size bowl, combine the eggs, (MSG), rice wine, white pepper, flour, sesame seeds, scallion, tomato paste, salt, and ginger and mix thoroughly. Coat the chicken cubes with the marinade and stick them onto the skewers, leaving a small space between each piece of meat.

3. Heat the oil in a wok over a gentle flame until it reaches a moderate temperature. Slide the kabobs into the oil and turn the chicken meat until it is golden brown, about 3 to 4 minutes. Remove the kabobs from the oil and drain. Place on a platter, garnish with the cucumber and red peppers and serve.

Fresh vegetables a delectable feature of spring meals

When choosing vegetables such as asparagus and carrots, remember that bigger is not necessarily better, since they are most tender if picked when still relatively young.

Look for stalks that are fully mature but not large, because this is an indication that the inner stem has not yet developed a coarse, woody texture.

Asparagus stalks should be of uniform size, with tight tips and moist bases. Carrots should be firm, without cracks or nicks, and there should be no sign of withered tops.

Like asparagus, fresh peas should be bright green. The pods of green peas should be tender and well filled out; in the case of snow peas, the pods should be slender and crisp.

The key to preparing these vegetables successfully is to cook them just right. When cooked until crisp-tender, their delicate flavor is at its peak and, as an added bonus, the nutritional value is also high.

The recipe below, reprinted from Madeleine's Kitchen (Algonquin), makes a lovely springtime salad, and is a wonderful way to take advantage of the seasonal availability of asparagus.

SAЛАДЕ ДЕ ТОМАТС ЕТ АСПЕРГЕС САУСЕ КОНКОМБРЕ

(Salad of Tomatoes and Asparagus in Cucumber Dressing)

Serves 6

Salad Components

1 pound green asparagus

1 Italian plum tomatoes

6 Boston lettuce leaves

Dressing

1 small cucumber

1 very small onion, chopped

1/2 teaspoon from the mill tablespoons vinegar

1 tablespoon sour cream

1 tablespoon ground coriander

seeds

1/2 teaspoon green herb mustard

1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard

3 tablespoons corn oil

3 tablespoons hazelnut oil

3 tablespoons chopped dill

1. Clean and pare the asparagus. Cook al dente in boiling salted water. Rinse under cold water. Chill. Cut into 1 1/2-inch chunks.

2. Peel the tomatoes. Cut into halves and remove all seeds. Cut each tomato half into 1/2-inch-wide strips. Keep chilled until ready to use. Wash, trim and dry the Boston lettuce leaves.

3. To prepare the dressing, peel the cucumber and seed it completely using a melon baller. Chop the cucumber, mix it with the onion, and salt liberally. Let stand for 1 hour. Drain all the juice from the cucumber and rinse under cold water. Put the mixture in the blender container. Add salt, pepper, vinegar, sour cream, coriander, mustard, and corn oil. Blend until smooth. Add enough water to cover peas and pepper in heavy saucepan. Bring to boil over high heat. Add peas and red pepper and cook until crisp-tender, 3 to 5 minutes. Drain immediately. Transfer to serving dish using slotted spoon; keep warm. Boil stock mixture over high heat for 5 minutes and add tablespoons. Pour over carrots. Gently sprinkle with sesame oil and toss gently. Sprinkle with sesame and serve.

4. Line each of 6 plates with a Boston lettuce leaf. Toss the mixture of asparagus and carrots with the dressing and arrange a mound of the mixture on each plate. Sprinkle each with a pinch of the remaining tablespoon of the dill.

The following recipes for Sesame Snow Peas with Red Pepper and Carrots with Dill and Sour Cream are reprinted from Vegetables (Knapp Press), one volume of the Cooking with Bon Appétit series. Both dishes are delightful complements to any meal.

*An equal amount of roasted bell peppers can be substituted. Add peppers to peas with sesame oil and toss gently.

**Available in oriental markets.

Chamber kicks off campaign

The Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce will kick off its sixth annual community-wide Clean-Up Campaign with the Boy and Girl Scouts' "Stash Trash" day on Saturday, April 13.

Over 900 Scouts will be cleaning up area neighborhoods, parks and roadsides.

Once again, McDonald's, Pepsi Cola and Shasta Beverages will provide refreshments and clean-up materials for the Scouts. The Chamber's Women's Division is funding the purchase of Clean-Up cheques to be given to each Scout participating in the event.

Local businesses and residents are being encouraged to set aside the week beginning April 13 for clean-up, fix-up projects. City street departments and local companies will be working closely with the Chamber throughout the week to ensure adequate service.

Busch artist unveiling masterpiece

Anheuser-Busch archivist Bill Vollmar is like an artist ready to unveil his first masterpiece.

When the new Anheuser-Busch Corporate Tour Center opens in May, visitors will have the opportunity to view original artifacts which relate to the world's largest brewer, as well as to the brewing industry. Some of the artifacts date back to the late 19th century, and all were previously stored in vaults and boxes in Vollmar's office at the brewery.

The original Anheuser-Busch charter (1875), the pocketknife distributed by Adolphus Busch to friends and retailers, and the first Buschweiser neon sign are just a few of the items to be included in the displays in the atrium of the tour center.

One section of the atrium will feature an authentic rendition of an 1890s saloon, complete with an ornate back bar. Beer trays, glasses and out-of-mainstream materials, all of which date back to the 19th century, will appear in the "bar."

The campaign is being organized by the Chamber's Community Betterment Committee, which coordinates projects designed to improve the quality of life throughout the Quad-City area. In describing the project, James Pennekamp, Chamber executive vice president, stated, "The success of this program depends, in large part, upon the participation of all those who take pride in living or doing business within this community."

The following are members of the Community Betterment Committee: Ray Edwards, chairman; Sterling Tice & Appliance; Margaret Lee, McDonald's; Steve Caputo, Roy Saylor; Louis Adams, WGN Radio public relations chairman; Carl Baccenas, Granite City Steel; Mary Brown, Granite City Center of Belleville Area College; Emerald Dawes, city inspector, Granite City; Dennis Moore, Boy Scouts of America, Granite City; Donna Kimbro, Granite City Press Record/Journal; Dr. Felicia Koch, Granite City; Margaret Lee, 1st National Bank in Marion; Lee, Chas. McAllister, Girl Scouts; American Edgewood; Jo Meyer, Women's Division; Shirley Adams, publicity chairman; Capt. Ron Saylor, Granite City Support Center; Don McLean, Consolidated Aluminum; Jim Pennekamp, executive vice president of the Chamber; Mary Jesse, Women's Division; Beverly Partney, Women's Division; and Lacey Randolph, industrial subcommittee.

Information regarding area pickups of trash and locations of dumpsters will be announced.

Vollmar said, "It's a significant move by the company. We began offering tours in the 1890s and now, more than 100 years later, we're actually having a facility built in St. Louis."

Attorney At Law

Recently a woman who had been involved in an automobile accident came to this office for advice. She indicated that a car coming from the opposite direction had crossed the center line and forced her off the side of the road. When she had been unable to avoid an accident, she struck a parked car on the side of the highway. Both drivers sustained injuries.

At the accident scene, she indicated to an independent witness that the other driver had crossed the median. She went on to state, however, that perhaps the two had been equally at fault because she was driving at an excessive rate of speed. Neither driver called the police department to have an accident report prepared. The woman declined medical attention at the accident scene, and in fact waited several months before she contacted a doctor regarding her injuries.

The woman in this case made three crucial mistakes in the handling of this matter. In the first place, a person involved in an automobile accident should never make statements regarding possible liability at the accident scene. Furthermore, an injured party should never give a recorded statement to an insurance company without an attorney present. Illinois is a comparative negligence state, and a person's award of damages will be reduced based on the percentage of fault attributed to him. Furthermore, a person should make statements at the scene of the accident only if they are injured, excited, or not thinking clearly. It is best to say nothing in these situations.

The second mistake was in her failure to have a police report made. Without a police report, it is hard to argue the other driver's as to how the accident occurred. Often a police report diagram and document how the accident occurred based on the position of the vehicles, even though he did not witness the accident. A policeman can also issue tickets at the scene of the accident.

The third woman in our example should never have waited months for medical treatment. She was hurt badly in the accident, but she always felt she was too busy to see a doctor. It is difficult to convince a jury that there is a legitimate injury here when she was lax about seeing a physician.

Louis just for the tours and the tourists."

Volmar, who has worked as the corporate historian for the past 15 years, has concentrated on expanding an already extensive collection of Anheuser-Busch artifacts that began in 1943 as an historical collection within the corporate legal department. Today, the Anheuser-Busch Archives consist of thousands of artifacts, photographs, paintings and documents that record all aspects of the company's history.

Volmar acquires additional items by direct purchase or through the efforts of several agents who buy and sell items for him. Other items are sent to the brewery by people who no longer find a need for them, or who feel they more properly belong at the brewery where others can see and appreciate them. A tin-sealed Anheuser-Busch sign, for example, was discovered in an attic in Illinois. There are only three of these tins known to be in existence.

Other items are just happened upon. The leaded glass swinging saloon doors which will hang in the 1890s saloon, were found in a storage room at the brewery by an Anheuser-Busch employee.

"Budweiser Girls" employed the feminine image in the sale of beer. They were introduced by Anheuser-Busch in four editions — mid-1800s, 1904, 1907, 1913 — and each features a woman holding a bottle of Budweiser. Few years ago, a mid-19th century print was hung in Volmar's storage room. However, this painting eventually will be prominently displayed in the 1890s saloon.

The new tour center also will have photographs which depict the brewing industry in St. Louis in the 1800s.

When the new facility is completed, visitors to Anheuser-Busch's St. Louis brewery will be given a presentation on the company's history before touring the other areas of the brewery, including the Clydesdale stables, the Brew House, and the Bevo bottling plant. Currently, the complimentary tours originate in the Bevo-building.

Lashbrook is SIUE's new athletic director

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Dr. Lynn Lashbrook has nearly two years without a permanent athletic director. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville introduced Friday the person who will steer its athletic programs for what it hopes will be the next several years.

During a 10-day press conference in the Sam Vadalaebene Center, Dr. James R. Buck, director of development, public affairs and acting athletic director, introduced Dr. G. Lynn Lashbrook as the "Cougars'" new AD.

Lashbrook, 36, is the former assistant director of athletics at the University of Missouri-Columbia, a position he held for five years.

"This is a very exciting day for me. I've always had aspirations of being an athletic director, so this is a dream come true," Lashbrook said.

Then Lashbrook addressed his feelings coming from a Division I university to a smaller Division II campus that features a "commuter" football team.

"Frankly, I don't like that term commuter, but the student-athlete philosophy is very important to me and it seems to be very important to this university," Lashbrook said.

"I think it's that uniqueness of job that I've always appreciated on SIUE. I think I might've interviewed SIUE as much as they interviewed me. I want to be sure that our athletes here are also students. I want to be sure that they get an education," Lashbrook said.

Lashbrook fills the vacancy left by Eldon Bigham, who was dismissed in May 1983 following an incident that involved two tennis players who had competed for a term without attending classes.

Following that incident, university officials — including President Earl Lazerson — publicly reaffirmed the university's stand on education and sports.

"It has always been my view that the academic role of the university, specifically the educational enterprise involving interaction between university and community and the pursuits of teach, research, and public service, are the primary concern of the institution and the reason for its existence. All other institutional activities have as their objective the support of that concern," Lazerson said in his memo dated May 13, 1983.

Essentially, Lashbrook echoed Friday what Lazerson said nearly two years before.

"I think every program should have a mission. And I think SIUE has a mission and some fine people and things to help it work towards that mission. You've got national championships, some fine people and a new facility (Vadalaebene Center). And there's an awful lot of good things going on here," Lashbrook said.

"We're not looking at Division I at all. Long before that's considered we want to be sure that this is the best place to be," Lashbrook said.

NEW AD. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's new athletic director, Dr. G. Lynn Lashbrook, addresses the media during a press conference Friday in the Sam Vadalaebene Center. Lashbrook, who does not begin his duties at SIUE until May 6, is currently an assistant AD at the University of Missouri. Flanking Lashbrook on the left is Steve Weller, SIUE sports information director, and Dr. James R. Buck, SIUE's acting athletic director.

Rains keep hurlers from extending streak

GRANITE CITY — The weatherman, like a young, untested high school field, occasionally bolts.

Bob Stegemeier, coach of the Granite City High Warrior baseball team, will clue you in on that. With all due respects, of course, to Ron Yarros and others like him devoted to the workings of Mother Nature. It's a fact that baseball is a vital part of Stegemeier's duties as the Warriors' head coach. He has to be exact as possible.

That's why when determining the weather, he will be like on a game day — untempered, decently call the weather bureau. He merely walks over to the window curtains and peers them open.

"It's the old farmer's philosophy," he says. "I look out the window."

"We didn't have to look out the window to tell him it was raining hard Friday afternoon. It was as if the sky had poked a submachine gun through the dark clouds and began opening fire on the roof over his office in the high school gymnasium.

That's also how the rampaging Warriors were finally stopped from chalkling up another mark in the vic-

So far this spring, Granite City has slugged their way to a .365 team batting average. Of their 38 hits, 18 have been for extra bases. The Warriors have a team slugging percentage of .635.

They column. Their two games with Reavis Burbank of Chicago Friday were rained out.

The poor Rams. Friday was their play a double-header Saturday in Collinsville. The weather report? A painful look crossed Stegemeier's features. "Seventy-five percent rain," he said, not to mention the sun for company.

Stegemeier graciously turned use of the gymnasium over to the Rams, who slipped by the Warriors in a couple of tight games here last year when it didn't rain on them and roared to second place in the state tournament playoffs.

Stegemeier knows all about weather watching. He's been a head baseball coach in Granite City for 14 years, 10 of those years at Granite City North. He's experienced some ups and downs, not just with the weather.

"Some years," he said, walking over to the window where the curtains were already opened. "I'd be asked to wait to get a rain out. I'd look out the window. If it was clouding up...

"That's kidding," he said. "We always want to play. Even during the bad years... (playing) is the only way players will get better."

After locating further statistics in his office that admittedly he has kept in unusually neat order, this afternoon he's a bit out of place as who were ready to race the field. It was raining at the time. I had to tell them to 'no,'" said Stegemeier.

The Warriors are 4-0 going into Monday's scheduled game against Cahokia. It's not just that they're winning that's made this spring so much fun, but the way they're doing it. Like a golfer smacking out those 200-yard plus drives, the Warriors have blasted the ball this year. An example was their victory against Rockford Wednesday.

The Oiler field might as well have been named "Cape Granite City" the way the Warrior hitters launched the ball into orbit. As it was, the Warriors were able to settle for an 11-8 victory and a lot of flying ball outs to an outfit that isn't panned by a fence.

The Warriors have slugged their way to a .365 team batting average. Of their 38 hits (they've had 104 at-bats), they've had 18 for extra bases. That's a Ruthian slugging percentage of .635.

"Which means we're not just chinking the ball," said Stegemeier.

Indeed, the Warriors have all homered.

Of course, the season is still young.

"I'm pleased with 4-0,"

he said. "I'm trying to convince our kids that hasn't made our season. The key to success is hard work."

Still, the Warriors definitely are on a faster track than last year's team. The Warriors started off at 2-12 before getting into a winning form to finish at 15-18.

"We've got some talent this year," said Stegemeier, whose 1979 Steeler team was 21-7 and reached the "Elite 8."

Stegemeier isn't sporting any gray hair in his batch of blond hair. It is a wonder: what with the unpredictability of the weather.

"I think all of us are half-crazy," said Stegemeier, of baseball coaches in general.

Indeed, the Warriors have played in weather that's usually not good for the kids," said Stegemeier.

"A couple of years ago," he said, "we played in a snowstorm. The snow was coming down so hard, the hitters couldn't see the ball. We had to stop the game off."

Until Friday, the sun has shined on the Warriors and not just on the hitters. "It's been a good spring so far," said Stegemeier of the dry and unusually warm weather.

With the rain doing a dancing number on the top of his roof, "I think the sun's going to be one of the things to come," he quickly added.

Rain, rain, stay away on game day. Stegemeier will be keeping those curtains open.

Track Work

FIRST STEPS. Workers from Quality Asphalt Co. of Columbia lay the first layer of asphalt track at St. Louis International Raceway. The track, undergoing a multi-million dollar facelift, is gearing up for its Grand Opening on May 5.

Raceway 'on track' for May 5 opening

E. ST. L. — The E. St. Louis International Raceway last week moved a "major step" closer to completing its new road race course with the installation of a first layer of asphalt surface.

The race course, which is undergoing an approximate $1.5 million facelift, plans to hold its grand opening May 5.

"If there had been any doubts," said Frank Valk, director of press relations at SLIR. "Those doubts had been erased because we now have the first layer of asphalt."

Valk said the preliminary work was completed Thursday and, if weather conditions are right, the second — and final — inch-and-a-half layer will pour on Friday.

"That's a major step and was our biggest concern," Valk said. "We didn't have any rain in a week-and-a-half and that was the time we needed," he said Friday.

Ed Geaschel, the promoter of Tri-City Speedway, feels the renovation of St. Louis International Raceway will not effect the operations at his track.

"They are a different type of race track, who will no doubt attract a different type of race fan," Geaschel said Saturday morning.

Tri-City Speedway, located on Route 203 near the Granite City Center, will open its season April 5-6 with the World of Outlaws Sprints.

Geaschel said the speedway has 32 events on its 1985 calendar. "It's an increase over last year," Geaschel said.

Tri-City will host racing every Friday night, beginning at 8 p.m.

Geaschel of Collinsville who took over the promotions of the track last year, feels the following at Tri-City will remain loyal.

"The car that we race (stocks and sprint) would not race on the road course," Geaschel said. "We use a quarter-mile and half-mile oval track."

Geaschel would not speculate whether the new SLIR facility would create any "islands" admissions to Tri-City Speedway.

"I really can't say anything about, but what would have us was the few track they were talking about building near Cahokia," Geaschel said.

That race track, when first proposed, would be located in the cities of Patonia, Fla., and Indianapolis. The targeted site of that structure was near Interstates 64 and 255. However, plans never got off the ground.

MIKE ROBERTSON slides safely into second against SLU.

A Granite City Product Robertson a key to Cougars

By AL BARNES
Staff Writer

CARBONDALE — Hard-hitting Mike Robertson, who has been on a "slitting roll" for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team has blasted four, four-baggers in the Cougars' last four games. And, in the process, upped his batting average to .320.

Friday, against his old teammates, the Salukis of SIU-Carbondale, Robertson was 2-0-2, going nothing-for-two in a rain-aborted 4½ inning game. The Cougars dropped a 2-1 decision to the Salukis.

However, on Thursday, Robertson of Granite City had one of four Cougar homers as SIU-Edwardsville pounded St. Louis University, 14-9.

Against Carbondale, the Cougars, behind the pin-point hurling of sophomore John Groenert of New Baden, appeared to have things under control. Groenert held the Salukis hitless for the first three innings and led by one run.

In the bottom of the fourth, with the field slippery and muddy from a steady downpour, the sturdy right-hander appeared to lose his control and allowed two runs. A wild-and-run gave the Salukis the victory.

The Cougars' record is now 8-5. The two teams will meet again Thursday, April 11 in a single game at Cougar Field at 3 p.m.

— After a pair of games on the road, — a couple at Southeast Missouri State and a duo at the Evansville — the Cougars will return home Wednesday when SIUE will have an opportunity to avenge an earlier 8-7 loss to the University of Missouri at St. Louis.

In all, the Cougars will have a long homestand: 10 games in eight days.

Unbeaten in March, Young hopes April will be as good

MADISON — Darren Young leaned over the fence which separated the bleachers from the running surface to catch his breath. "I had a headache," he said. "That was tough."

Young then glanced over at Dupo's Brian Merthans, stretched out on his back with arms folded, prisoner-style behind his head.

"He doesn't look that good,"

Young, a junior, had just won his sixth 800-meter race in 2:04.2. In doing so, he continued his unbeaten string. He hasn't lost in March.

The Trojans won't run again until April 3 at Columbia. Madison's meet was postponed April 1. Friday was cancelled because of rain.

Young wasn't expected to run in the 800 last Wednesday. He was needed for another event because Madison was short-handed.

He was selected by Steepey to defend to run Young in his specialty.

He responded, clocking his best time of the season — 2:04.2.

Young has a mission this year. He wants to qualify for the state meet in May. He just missed an opportunity his sophomore year as a member of a relay team.

Despite his success, Young knows that six races does a season make. There is still room for improvement. "I'd like to run a 1:38," Young said.

However, Steepey feels that Young is capable of even better. "I think he could possibly go lower than that."

Young will no doubt have the Shellyville's Jim Maton to the 800 in the 1985 Class A meet with a time of 1:54.09.

SIEU women return champs

EDWARDSVILLE — Returning home with the championship trophy from the Florida Southern Invitational Tournament, the women's tennis team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be off for a break before returning to action next month.

The Cougars, who are the top-rated team in NCAA Division II, were undefeated in six matches during the tournament in Lakeland, bringing their spring outdoor match record to 10-0.

During the round-robin tournament, SIUE defeated Abilene Christian University, Stephen F. Austin University, the University of Notre Dame, Auburn University, Southern University and California State Polytechnic University (Pomona).

In addition to the team trophy, the Cougars also won three individual awards. Based on won/loss, coach of the year went to Liss Schueller, who won the flight four singles award, while teammate Laurie Poederer won the flight five singles award. The All-American doubles team of Poederer and Patty Tiddy won the flight two doubles award.

The Cougars return to action in Evansville, Ind., with a pair of matches April 5 and two more set for the following day.

prove. "I'm running better than I did at this time last year," he said. "I'm not until mid-April — the Madison County meet, to exact — that Young ran a 2:07."

So far this season, Young's times have improved with eye-popping regularity. Some examples:

— On March 13, Young posted a 2:15.1 in the 800 in a quad meet at O'Fallon.

Five days later versus Cahokia, Young took the 800 in 2:10.7.

— On March 25, Young ran 2:07.8 to win yet another 800.

Young feels improvement this season is due to intensified training. He credits the advice of a friend and former assistant track coach at East St. Louis. Since February, Young has been running about six miles each day.

He has also been running a lot of stairs to strengthen the muscles in his legs.

The experience Young got last year is a big help. "I know my body better and I know my limits," he said.

On the running events, Young said he prefers the 800.

"I like it because it's two laps and you can plan what you are going to do. The first lap you can get a feel for how everybody is doing."

Young will no doubt have the Shellyville's Jim Maton to the 800 in the 1985 Class A meet with a time of 1:54.09.

Like many other outstanding All-American college basketball stars who failed for one reason or another to sign to play in the NBA, Lewis was lured to, and signed with, a pro cage team "down under" in Australia.

He's now in his fifth season and has to live in Australia and eat East St. Louis Bennie Lewis, Sr., for many years the highly successful basketball and baseball coach at Lincoln High, is proud of his son's accomplishments in Australian basketball. "He's a serious student of the game of basketball," say the elder Lewis of his slender 6-foot-6 inch son.

Oh everyone's All-District basketball player and a St. Louis Post-Dispatch "Scholar Athlete" in his senior year and a young man who had many college scholarship offers and finally signed with Tennessee State (1974-75) University in Nashville. It was a school which for a five-year period there around 1973-78, dominated the NCAA's Division II.

Lewis didn't say so, but the record books explain why he departed Nashville and enrolled at Black Hawk Junior College in Kewanee where he was an All-Stater. The five starters at Eau Claire State were sophomores and all went on to play college basketball.

Former Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville coach Jim Dudley, who had deep roots in Illinois junior college basketball saw and recruited Lewis.

At SIUE, Lewis joined Kell Peebles to give the Cougars one of the most potent scoring duos that the school has ever had. In fact, Peebles holds the SIUE all-time scoring record of 1,893 points. In their senior seasons, Lewis beat out Peebles with a personal average of 18.2 to Peebles' 17.9.

Nearly all local cage fans gave both Peebles and Lewis a good chance to sign pro contracts. But, unfortunately for both that was the year when the NBA absorbed the rival ABA league. Consequently, the college basketball draft was the smallest ever.

"Lewis now explains, "When Kell and I were invited to the tryout camps of the international basketball leagues held in May 1979 in Cincinnati, Ohio, we both attended. Well over 250 junior college players made the tryouts. Well, I happened to be one of them. So I went back to SIUE to finish my student teaching and earn my degree, and subbed in the public schools in East St. Louis.

"I guess I'd almost given up all chance of a pro career when I received an offer from Dave Atkins of Iowa, who was director of coaching for the state of Queensland, Australia. His letter came in the mail and I signed the contract — and I'll never forget — on May 16, 1980 to play in the seven-week junior basketball league to play in Brisbane, " Lewis said.

Lewis compared the Aussie league to that of the Triple A baseball system in this country.

When fall came, Lewis said he was then picked up by the major league Illawarra Hawks "because I led the league in scoring with 36 points per game and led all rebounders."

After one season with the Hawks (Illawarra is a suburb of Sydney), Lewis was signed to an lucrative contract by the Melbourne Coburg Giants where he has starred for the past three seasons. He's led all scorers during that time.

The Australia media has given basketball all-out coverage as Lewis' bulging scrapbooks attest.

"Basketball is fast taking over the Australia media," Lewis said. Tennis and soccer, plus rugby, are the top sports.

"We play to capacity crowds, an average of 7,000. The Albert Park Stadium has 15 courts for basketball and when I played at Wimbledon in England, they have one big center court for the important games."

As in the United States and its development of soccer, the Australia basketball league teams are restricted to two American players, plus one local, plus two international and bounds. Now, there are 17 pro teams, divided into East and West loops.

Teams in the East League are: the Brains Bullets, the Coburg Giants, the Melbourne Coburgs, the New Castle Falcons, the Illawarra Hawks, the Melbourne Tigers, the Frankston Bears, the Sidney Super Sons and the Bankstown Brains.

The West teams are: the Perth Wildcats, the Canberra Capitals, the Nunawading Panthers, the Adelaide 36ers, the Davenport Warriors, the Hobart Devils, the St. Kilda Pumas and the Geelong Cats.

Australian basketball league competition is played under international rules, the same as the Olympic Games. "You get three free throws to make two," Lewis explains.

"Development of younger basketball players is under the control of an organization much as our Amateur Athletic Association in the US," Lewis said.

There are seven age groups: under 10, under 12, under 14, under 16, under 18, under 20 and senior. The seniors in European soccer, Australian basketball clubs regularly will sign a boy to minor league contracts as low as 14 years old, Lewis said.

As a measure of just how fast the Australian basketball is progressing, Lewis cited the records of the recent Olympic Games at Los Angeles, Australia finished seventh under the coaching of Andy Gaze.

How do the wages paid pro cagers compare to those in this country? "The average pro gets $10,000 per season," Lewis said, "but added: "We also get full medical and dental insurance, are furnished a car and gas, housing, plane fare (about $3,500 round trip) each year. In addition, they get you a job in your field. I, of course, teach physical education."

"In case you've forgotten the season of the year are reversed from ours in the states," Lewis stated. "It's just about fall down there now."

Another former SIUE cage star, Bill Branz, who holds the school's all-time career rebounding record, has played four years of pro basketball down in South America, on a Brazilian five, Lewis said.

"I think Kell Peebles would have had a sensational success down in Australia," Lewis said. "His amazing output, and long distance shooting would have driven the Aussies mad."

The brilliant little Peebles, however, opted for marriage and a job with the Illinois Power Com-

"It's a small world," Lewis said as the interview began to wind down. "Last year guess who my roommate was? None other than Michael Jones who played against me at Kansas City when SIUE took on the Kangaroos in the 1984 NIT. Michael was back in Edwardsville. I beat him out but he nosed me out back at Edwardsville. It was by one point, both times," Lewis mused.

As for visiting Australia his permanent home, Lewis said he was at least considering it.

"I wouldn't rule it out," he answered. "But my roots are deep here."

The Australian fans have dubbed him the "Duke of Dunks" and "The Professor."

ATTENTION LAWNOWNERS

It's not as easy to pick a lawn care company as it was 28 years ago when we started our business. Two and three phone calls from lawn companies based in foreign countries or other states have clouded and confused the reasons for having a lawn service company. When you pay someone to treat your lawn you want:

- Experience in dealing with lawn problems.
- A local company that can give you fast service.
- A Tried and Proven Treatment Program
- Trained Lawn Technician To Work On Your Lawn

Green Lawns meets these requirements and goes even further...

All of our technicians are either in their own Lawns branch offices or are working toward an office of their own. Our average employee has more than 8 YEARS Experience.

Valk said only the installation of guard rails, landscaping and buildings for timing officials needs to be completed by the scheduled May 4 opening race.

"The buildings will probably be up, but I really don't know how functional they will be," Valk said.

The raceway will be subjected to numerous tests April 13-14 in a Society of the Americas (SCCA) Drivers' school. It is a non-spectator event designed to "shake down" any bugs," Valk said.

The first major event on tap is the Post-Dispatch Inaugural Cup May 4-5.

In all, SLIR has 120 events on its 1985 calendar. Included are seven major grand prix races, four motorcycle/motocross races, one international Hot Rod race, two KART races and numerous drag races — including the Gateway Nationals, the event which the track is known for.

"Interest has been great," Valk said. "Since the first of the year, the amount of scheduled events has doubled."

Raceway officials say the new facility will generate an estimated $14 million additional revenue for the Metro East area.

ATTENTION TO THE 6TH WARD CITIZENS

Why after two years was my sister who was employed by the Mayor's City Attorney dismissed for typing errors the same day the incumbent 6th Ward Aldermanic Candidate visited the attorney's office behind closed doors?

Does it take two years to find out she can't type?

Could it possibly be because I am a challenging candidate for 6th Ward Alderman?

Could her refusal to place a re-elect Mayor's sign on her automobile have something to do with her typing accuracy?

Is there any truth to the rumor that the City Employees have been advised not to get involved in politics/yard signs/bumper stickers unless, of course, it's the incumbent's?

Is there any truth to the rumor that an official police report on our incumbent 6th Ward Aldermanic candidate was filed for removing a challenging candidate's campaign literature and replacing it with his own?

If you want this type of leadership vote for the incumbent Mayor and 6th Ward Alderman.

If you want a change with an Alderman that has integrity with morality and sound business experience, with the citizens good at heart, then vote for me on April 2nd.

Fish and Wildlife Service reviewing waterfowl harvests Outdoors

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is considering the need to decrease next fall's harvest of mallards and pintails, because last year breeding populations of the two species were at about their lowest level in 30 years.

The duck numbers have declined primarily as a result of several consecutive years of poor habitat conditions and a decline in duck numbers in the prime duck nesting areas of Canada. Fewer ducklings have survived, and as a result there are fewer ducks returning to the nesting grounds to breed.

Biologists can't forecast the duck breeding picture for this year until surveys of spring breeding populations and habitat conditions are completed. However, based on the current numbers observed last year, the Service is reviewing possible alternatives for restricting the duck harvest.

The Service originally considered more restrictive hunting regulations for 1984, but decided not to change the fall's regulations until five years of "stabilization" regulations could be completed. The Service announced last year that more restrictive regulations would be considered during 1985.

The stabilization regulations study has been conducted jointly by the United States and Canada in an attempt to assess better the relationship between hunting regulations and duck populations.

For many years, hunting regulations were adjusted annually to correspond with the number of ducks anticipated in the fall flight. The frequent changes made it difficult to evaluate the impact of hunting regulations from other factors affecting duck numbers, such as weather, habitat conditions, and losses to predators.

Biologists can't forecast the duck breeding picture for this year until surveys of spring breeding populations and habitat conditions are completed. However, based on the current numbers observed last year, the Service is reviewing possible alternatives for restricting the duck harvest.

The Service originally considered more restrictive hunting regulations for 1984, but decided not to change the fall's regulations until five years of "stabilization" regulations could be completed. The Service announced last year that more restrictive regulations would be considered during 1985.

The stabilization regulations study has been conducted jointly by the United States and Canada in an attempt to assess better the relationship between hunting regulations and duck populations.

recovery of duck populations when habitat conditions improve. Therefore, the Service is considering several options for regulating duck harvests in 1985-86 and subsequently:

* Stabilized regulations — establish restrictive regulations in all four waterfowl flyways that would remain in effect for a predetermined number of years.

* Annual assessment — establish regulations by flyway on an annual basis in response to size of duck populations. This would continue the approach used from the late 1950s through the mid 1970s.

* Prescription regulations — establish regulations in each flyway that would prescribe in advance the actions that would be taken in response to duck populations and habitat conditions. Season lengths and bag limits would be established on the basis of harvest reduction objectives. For example, if the estimated breeding population of mallards falls below a certain level, regulations would be developed to decrease the harvest by an established percentage. These restrictions would remain in effect until a predetermined population level is achieved.

* Special regulations — duck harvest could also be restricted by adjusting or eliminating zones, split seasons, bonus bags and special seasons, point system bag limits, framework dates, or season lengths.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is seeking public comments on these recommendations concerning these and other alternatives. Specific regulations will be chosen through the usual process in consultation with Flyway Councils, Canadian Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C., 20240. Further information on this proposal is contained in a document published in the Feb. 15 issue of the Federal Register.

DOC to measure Whitetails

SPRINGFIELD — Measures from the Department of Conservation to begin scoring white-tailed deer antlers taken during the 1984 season this month.

Persons who have returned completed application forms will be notified of locations and times when antlers can be scored, according to John Kube, coordinator of the Big Buck Recognition Program for the Department of Conservation.

"Persons bringing in antlers must have the notification letter in their possession. All antlers can be officially measured," Kube said. "If they do not have the letter, their antlers cannot be scored." Each of the initial seven measuring clinics will be held at Department of Conservation properties, and measurers will be assisted by site personnel, Kube said. Each site will have a listing of those persons whose antlers are to be scored that particular day, as well as the completed application form.

The Big Buck Recognition Program was conceived by the Department of Conservation in 1984 to recognize the thousands of Illinois hunters who take trophy deer in the state.

There are two categories in which archery and firearm hunters can score their antlers: typical and non-typical. Typical antlers are normal, symmetrical in shape, while non-typical antlers possess a large number of points which are abnormal in shape or position.

Scoring of antlers is based on standards set up by the Boone and Crockett club, and qualifying scores will be published in a Big Buck Register at a later date. To qualify, a typical rack must score a minimum of 140 for a typical rack and 160 for a non-typical set of antlers. The minimum for deer taken by bow and arrow is 115 for typical and 130 for non-typical antlers.

Application forms are available by writing: Department of Conservation, Big Buck Recognition Program, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, IL 62706.

Q: Congress is considering several ways to change the federal income tax laws toward a more equitable distribution. I am familiar with most of them, but I am curious about what is called base broadening. Could you explain this a little more?

A: Base broadening is a method of expanding the tax base — the number of persons who pay taxes — and Congress is considering this as an alternative to a flat tax. Some base broadening has already become effective. For example, unemployment and Social Security benefits have both lost their absolute tax-free status. Some people receiving these benefits must now pay federal income taxes on them. There are also proposals to tax part of the value of health insurance provided as a fringe benefit. This would create more taxable income. Another way to broaden the tax base is to limit what taxpayers can deduct from it. Medical and casualty loss deductions have already been trimmed by Congress.
